Principals,

I hope you, your staff, and your students are doing well and staying healthy!

As part of the federal District Court litigation and the KCS court-ordered mask mandate, the Law Department's excellent investigator, Amy Walker, plans to spend a brief time at your school tomorrow to take some pictures to support our defense of the "mask case" and note KCS enforcement of mask usage. Amy will have her ID and will likely be smiling (you can even tell through the mask). She will be taking pictures of signage and staff with masks. She may also obtain pictures of students wearing masks, but any such pictures will be altered to protect student identities.

We are only taking pictures at select schools to obtain a cross-section of required mask enforcement in the district. We don't expect this to be bothersome, but we would much appreciate it if someone in your school would be able to provide directions to Amy regarding signage and best places to take some effective pictures.

Let me know if you have any questions.

Thanks, Gary
